Conference objective

This is the definitive conference for understanding the implications of existing, new and future UK and EU climate change policy on your business.

In association with the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, EIC is running the definitive conference for understanding the implications of UK and EU climate change policy on your business.

Launching the Low Carbon Industrial Strategy in March 2009, which set out the Government's "vision" for making the transition to a low carbon economy. The Prime Minister highlighted the "tremendous economic opportunities the low carbon economy provides for jobs and for our future prosperity as a nation."

The Government, working with the EU, will have to put in place a wide ranging policy framework – built around the Climate Change Act – to meet legally binding carbon emission reduction targets for 2020 and 2050.

It is crucial to ensure that your business understands the full implications of this policy framework and is prepared to take advantage of the "tremendous economic opportunities" the new low carbon economy will create.

The economic downturn will not reduce the impact of complying with mandatory climate change policy. It is, therefore, vital to every business to understand:

- The rapidly developing UK and EU climate change policy framework
- The risks and the opportunities that climate change policy creates

EIC has brought together a unique line up of the top policy makers, regulators and business leaders to provide early warning intelligence to help guide your business strategies to ensure a profitable response to the transition to a low carbon economy.

This is an essential event for understanding the implications of UK and EU climate change policy – and the opportunities it will create.

You cannot afford to miss it.

"Our mission is, in truth, historic and world changing – to build, over the next fifty years and beyond, a global low carbon economy."

Rt Hon Gordon Brown MP
Prime Minister

Conference programme

Chair: Adrian Wilkes, Chief Executive, Environmental Industries Commission

"EIC will play a key role – and does play a key role – not only in communicating the impacts of Government regulation to your members but also advocating across Westminster on behalf of environmental industries. For a growing sector, and one which will be vital to our future economy, your work will continue to ensure that these industries are successfully heard by Government."
